

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A rotating electric machine, including: a bowl-like housing having a through hole penetrated by a shaft and having
5 a cutout portion in a part of an opening portion; a commutator fixed to the shaft; a base fixed to the housing by a clamp screw and having a tapped hole through which the clamp screw is inserted with a play; a brush disposed in the base and rubbing against the commutator; a plate having a joint portion to which a lead
10 wire led outside is welded and fixed to the base; a grommet penetrated by the lead wire and engaged in the cutout portion of the housing; and a positioning unit which positions the lead wire to be welded in the joint portion.